PROJECTS

2007. HYBRIDE / IMAGINARY EXIBITION, Museum of Modern Art, Novi Sad
Throughout the history, media storage formats have significantly evolved as a consequence of the technological development. Eventually, analog storage media gave its way to digital carriers such as CDs, DVDs, MiniDiscs, Digi8, etc. Each new media format forces the end-product consumer to abide to the new standards and invest additional financial and other resources (purchasing computers and software, investing time to tackle the learning curve, etc).

By using the contemporary media formats for several years, I came to the conclusion that the end effect on the consumer can be efficiently achieved through simple and accessible techniques. A 2000 exhibition of 20 different artists relating the traditional painting with modern media presentations provided me with an opportunity to bring the FLIP BOOK out of the past.

Recent participation in the civil army service program provided me with an opportunity to enrich my skills by various collaborations within the New Media Department. The main focus was on stop frame animation workshop and interaction with Dragan Zivancevic`s students with various backgrounds.
Lorca`s poem "A Little Mute Boy" served as a working scenario used to emphasize timing in animation as the end result.
